

REASONS TO STUDY MASTERS OF PUBLIC HEALTH WITH US

Posted on April 17, 2023 by ECIPH

Category: Opinions

Admissions Open for Masters of Public Health \(MPH Degree\) programme at the Department of Public Health, Yenepoya \(Deemed to be University\) in association with Edward & Cynthia Institute of Public Health – advanced technical cooperation center with Yenepoya \(Deemed to be University\).

Public Health is a growing field: Public health is a growing field with a strong demand for professionals who are trained in public health. Studying a Master of Public Health (MPH) can prepare you for a career in public health.

Public Health focuses on prevention: Public health is concerned with preventing disease, promoting health, and prolonging life. Studying a Masters of Public Health allows you to gain skills in prevention, which can be applied to a range of health issues.

Diverse career opportunities: Studying MPH opens up a wide range of career opportunities, including but not limited to public health agencies, government agencies, non-governmental organizations, academia, research organizations, and private sector organizations.

High demand for public health professionals: As public health concerns continue to increase, there is a growing demand for public health professionals who can address these issues. Studying MPH can equip you with the knowledge and skills necessary to meet these demands.

Develop leadership skills: MPH programs offer opportunities to develop leadership skills that can be applied in a range of settings. These skills include communication, collaboration, and critical thinking.

Work on global health issues: Public health is not limited to local issues; it is also concerned with global health issues. Studying MPH can prepare you to work on global health issues and to collaborate with people from diverse cultural backgrounds.

Advance your research skills: MPH programs often include research components, allowing you to develop advanced research skills that can be applied to a range of health-related issues.

Make a positive impact: Studying MPH can equip you with the knowledge and skills necessary to make a positive impact on the health of individuals, communities, and populations.

Networking opportunities: Studying MPH can provide you with opportunities to network with other public health professionals, which can be beneficial for career advancement and collaboration on future projects.

Personal and professional growth: Studying MPH can be a rewarding experience that can lead to personal and professional growth. It can challenge your assumptions and beliefs, and expose you to different ways of thinking and approaching public health issues.